DESCRIPTION

Brixton has been designated as a Creative Enterprise Zone by the GLA, and the Brixton Recreation Centre is at the centre of a circa £4m regeneration project. The Revitalising Brixton's Rec Quarter Project has received 2.17m in grant funding from the Mayor's Good Growth Fund which aims to support growth and community development in London. Funds are being used to create the new space at Beehive Place, restore the building, install new shopfronts on the retail units at the base of the building and improve the surrounding public realm. This grant funded project aims to deliver new commercial space which benefits the local community through supporting small businesses, creating jobs and offering employment and education opportunities to local young people. Prospective tenants will be required to agree output and reporting requirements.

The exciting new creative hub will be formed out of an existing storage area to provide unique spaces within the well-known Brixton Recreation Centre. A new bespoke self-contained entrance will be installed at Beehive Place, which will lead into a central shared lobby.

The unit will be over ground and basement levels. New windows will also be installed into the façade to provide greater natural light into the space. The local authority would particularly welcome prospective tenants whose activities support young people or local SMEs.
