GET TO KNOW THE AREA

One of the greenest places to live in London

Woodberry Down is a sustainable place to live and enjoy, with community at its heart. Since 2009, the area has undergone regeneration in a 30-year project to deliver over 5,500 new homes over 64 acres. Berkeley Homes have delivered over 2,300 homes to date.

Woodberry Down is set next to the spectacular natural surrounds of the Woodberry Wetlands and a sailing reservoir. It is a place that is committed to the natural environment, energy conservation and to enhance the area's abundant wildlife. It has attracted naturalists such as Sir David Attenborough and the BBC's Spring Watch.

With nearby schools, a community centre and great community facilities alongside public open spaces – where events and activities take place year round – Woodberry Down has been recognised as a best practice example development in London, nationally and internationally and continues to win awards year on year.

CONNECTIVITY

This vibrant neighbourhood benefits from unparalleled connectivity. Woodberry Down is served by the nearby Manor House tube station, providing swift access to the Piccadilly Line, your gateway to the West End, King's Cross Station and Heathrow Airport.

Additionally, Finsbury Park Station is a stone's throw away, offering connections to National Rail services and the Victoria and Piccadilly Lines. This strategic location ensures that Woodberry Down is superbly linked to central London and key transport hubs, making it an ideal base for businesses looking to thrive in the capital.

THE DETAILS

Woodberry Down - Phase 3

Woodberry Down is one of the largest and most talked about regeneration schemes in the London Borough of Hackney.

Phase 3 is the penultimate phase to complete Woodberry Grove high street feel and the commercial hub of the entire Woodberry Down regeneration.

The addition of new commercial spaces opens doors to a spectrum of opportunities, from retail ventures and gastronomic delights to service providers and creative enterprises. The commercial canvas now extends further, providing entrepreneurs and established businesses with the chance to be part of an evolving urban area.

With more than £1 billion investment, over the next 20 years the area will transform physically, socially and economically.

Uniquely located next to 42 acres of tranquil open waters of the Stoke Newington reservoirs, all whilst being a short walk to Finsbury Park and Manor House underground station, Woodberry Down is set to be one of the greenest places to live in London.
